PORTUGAL CRUSHES NAVAL REVOLT

JUDGE HOLDS PRORATE IS LEGAL

Injunction Granted To Stop Violations By
Colton Shipper

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Federal District Judge Leon R. Yankwich made permanent today an injunction upholding citrus marketing provisions under the Agricultural Adjustment act.

The injunction, first granted on a temporary basis on April 4, is in favor of the government against Hugh David Edwards, Colton fruit shipper, and enjoins him from shipping oranges from California in violation of the prorate quotas established by the secretary of agriculture Jan. 26.

The government contended that although the United States supreme court invalidated portions of the AAA, other parts of the measure, including those under which the citrus quotas were made, were still in operation.

Stable Prices Sought

"It is an economic truism that a stable price structure affects production," said Judge Yankwich in his decision.

"Everywhere, and particularly in the United States, the efforts toward economic recovery have been directed towards establishing a stable price structure that would encourage and thus restore the unbalanced economic life.

"To deny to congress its plenary power over commerce upon the presumption that in some indirect way such a control may induce persons to increase production voluntarily would, if carried to its ultimate conclusion, cripple and destroy the power."

Accused of Violation

United States District Attorney Pearson M. Hall termed the decision a move to "prevent the entire reorganization of the orange and fruit control."

Edwards was accused by the government of shipping oranges and grapefruit outside the state in violation of an agreement entered into by more than 80 per cent of

PRIMARIES IN FIVE STATES

(By the Associated Press)

Voters of five widely separated states balloted in primaries today, while national interest centered on the contest in Georgia tomorrow where Gov. Eugene Talmadge, bitter critic of the New Deal, is trying to replace Richard B. Russell, jr., in the senate of the United States.

States holding primaries today included Washington, Arizona, Colorado and Vermont. In South Carolina, a second run-off was being held between two Greenville Democrats to choose a successor to the late John J. McSwain for the cotton mill district in congress.

School Fails to Open in Furore on
'Kissing Teachers'

CHICAGO (AP)—The Union Ridge school failed to open for the fall term today and while 500 elementary students in suburban Norwood township enjoyed an extended vacation, their parents battled over the subject of "kissing teachers."

The conflict was over the re-appointment of Principal Charles O'Hearn, accused in a "poison pen" letter of becoming too affectionate with his teaching staff of three young women.

Noble J. Puffer, Cook (Chicago) county superintendent of schools, declined to certify O'Hearn as principal, whereupon Herman Reussow, head of the township school board, refused to certify the three teachers, Mary Hammond, Clarabelle Lindsay and Larinda Cleary.

PARTY CHIEFS TO BE NAMED

Central Committees Are Mixed Up on Places
to Meet Today

Central committees of the two major parties in Orange county were scheduled to get all mixed up this afternoon. It was feared that Democrats would find themselves sitting in on the Republican conference and Republicans would be listening to a recitation of alphabetical slogans in the Bourbon stronghold.

Both groups were to meet at the court house to organize. The committees were named at the August primary election and the law calls upon them to organize today.

At a late hour this morning both committees knew they were to meet at the courthouse. They knew departments one and two of the superior court were assigned to them. But they didn't know which party was to have which court room.

It was expected the Democrats would elect B. Z. McKinney or Horace Head as chairman to succeed City Judge J. G. Mitchell. The Republicans were believed to be preparing to elect Howard Irwin of Fullerton to succeed himself.

Despite the anticipated mixup on meeting places, Democrats were determined to elect a Democratic chairman. Republicans were just as determined to elect a Republican to lead their forces.

Nine Saved After Yacht Goes Down

WOODS HOLE, Mass. (AP)—A hairbreadth rescue of nine persons whose boat sank in the windswept waters of Nantucket sound put them back safely on shore today.

The arrival of the schooner Daquiri, while seven of the party—including four women—tossed about in a small dinghy and two others clung to the mast of the sinking craft, averted a tragic end to a holiday yachting party.

SURRENDER IS OFFERED BY GOVERNOR

But Anarchists Are To Fire Besieged City
Before Giving in

By ROBERT B. PARKER, JR.
(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press)

SAINT JEAN DE LUZ, France. Hope of saving besieged San Sebastian from anarchist-set flames all but vanished tonight with the refusal of advancing rebels to grant amnesty for the defenders in return for a quick surrender of the city.

Jose Ortega, son of San Sebastian's governor, slipped into France today and enlisted the aid of a French leftist deputy who communicated the surrender proposal to a French deputy of the right, representing Basque rebels at Pamplona, Spain.

Proposal Refused

His proposition met a flat refusal.

The insurgents, closing in methodically on the northern resort city, were reported little interested in the offer and sceptical that its terms could be kept.

Governor Ortega's offer was made without the knowledge of the anarchists who have declared they would set fire to the Bay of Biscay city rather than allow it to fall into the hands of the Fascists.

Evacuating City

San Sebastian was reported in seething dissension among various elements of government forces. Fighting in the streets between Basque Nationalists, Socialists and Anarchists caused many residents to flee.

Evacuation of the northern city, which furnished a summer residence for many foreign ambassadors before the revolution broke out 53 days ago, continued by way of the sea. Three foreign warships in the harbor were besieged by residents and government militiamen seeking to be taken aboard.

MARY ASTOR'S DIARY BURIED

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mary Astor's diary, the orge of Hollywood, was buried today in a modern dungeon.

The two volumes of her Hollywood experiences went into the vaults of the county treasury, deep beneath the ground, surrounded by massive steel walls and protected by an intricate system of photo-electric cells.

Impounding of the diary was one of the terms of the treaty that ended her custody battle with her ex-husband, Dr. Franklyn Thorpe. Dr. Thorpe had the love-letter in his possession, and was prepared to use it as evidence in an effort to prove the movie star's unfitness for custody of their 4-year-old daughter, Marylyn, when the struggle was arbitrated. So today County Treasurer H. L. Byram sealed it away.

Resident Here 45 Years Dies

Henry D. Diers, 86, died yesterday at St. Joseph hospital. With his wife, Mrs. Rosa K. Diers, he had resided in Santa Ana for the past 45 years. He was a native of Germany.

Surviving relatives, in addition to his widow, are two sons, William F. Diers, Santa Ana, and Henry D. Diers, jr., Los Angeles; two daughters, Mrs. Arthur H. Pease, Orange, and Mrs. Emil Bach, Chicago.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by the Winbiger mortuary, 609 North Main street.

Launch Drive to Protect 13,000,000 Dogs From Autos

WASHINGTON (AP)—The office of education today launched a campaign to protect the nation's 13,000,000 pet dogs against reckless motorists.

Sponsored by the Noble Dog Foundation, the drive is dedicated to obtaining countrywide legislation making it a criminal offense for a driver to leave the scene of an accident without giving aid to an injured dog and reporting to police.

FIRE SWEEPS LARGE AREA

Blaze in Santa Monica
District Is Raging
Uncontrolled

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A northwesterly wind saw an uncontrolled brush fire down Los Flores canyon nine miles north of Santa Monica today.

Already about 2300 acres have been burned over, the county forester's office reported. A few small ranch dwellings and a deserted Boy Scout camp have been destroyed.

The fire is still more than one mile away from the inhabited lower portion of Los Flores canyon near the ocean beach, where about 100 cabins are situated.

500 Fight Flames

Fighting the flames is an army of 500 men including Civilian Conservation Corps enrollees and the regular county fire forces.

Nick Mellis, 23, resident of the fire district, died of a heart attack as he drove his automobile out of the danger region along with several hundreds of others warned by sheriff's deputies.

Only on the Southern Front, moving down the canyon, is the fire definitely out of control, said the forester's office. The eastern, western and northern lines, while not satisfactory, are spreading only slowly.

Try to Fix Blame

The danger point of the blaze is now the head of Los Flores canyon. Responsibility for starting the fire has not been fixed, but the sheriff's office is questioning a 23-year-old truck driver, suspected of causing the conflagration by a carelessly discarded match.

The fire is still two and one-half miles away from Fernwood, a popular mountain resort in Topanga canyon.

The Malibu mountains through which twist Los Flores and Topanga canyons crowd close to the ocean along the curve of Santa Monica bay. The peaks are mostly under 3000 feet and are covered by brush, now crisp and dry after a long summer. There are only a few trees in the region.

PIT WITS AGAINST PIT

Dana Point Hole Mystifies

A gold rush at Dana Point? Or a smuggling den? Or just a hole in the ground?

Possibility of either of three solutions to the current sheriff's department mystery was admitted today by deputy sheriffs.

There is something going on down there, and so far all that any one is sure of is that there is a hole being dug halfway down the bluff, 40 feet deep, and about four feet in diameter. No one knows what for.

The mystery popped up when Chief of Police Abe Johnson of Laguna phoned the sheriff that a mysterious man was camped in a tent about half way down the bluff. He thought the mysterious camper might be a "spotter" for a smuggler's crew.

REPORT RISE IN ORANGE SHIPMENT

Short Deciduous Crops
Permit Larger Sale
Of Valencia

The Orange County Fruit exchange has been pushing valencia oranges to domestic markets faster than last year, despite the fact that last season's crop was considerably larger, it was revealed today.

So far, it has shipped 4522 carloads compared to 4213 last year. The major reason why this was possible is that the warm weather in the Midwest and the East, coupled with a short deciduous fruit crop, have provided a more ready market, it was explained by Clarence Skiles, exchange manager.

Lemon Shipments

Shipments for the month of August for associations affiliated with the exchange amounted to 1227 carloads. Of these, 215 carloads were sold through the Los Angeles distributing plant, and 1012 were moved to export and domestic markets.

Lemon shipments for August, through the exchange, amounted to 65 carloads, bringing the total for this variety for the season to 741 carloads. California Fruit Growers' exchange storage as of Sept. 1 was 274 cars less than on Aug. 15 and was 23 per cent below the storage at this time last year.

Tree Crop Remaining on Sept. 5

in the area under the California-Arizona orange and grapefruit agency amounted to 13,056 carloads of valencia oranges. Actual tree crop at this time last year was 17,548 carloads for all shippers. In 1934 this figure was 8038.

Future Charted

The agency anticipates that 9774 carloads of valencia oranges will be shipped in fresh fruit markets, including both packed and loose fruit. Last year after Sept. 5, 13,429 carloads were shipped. Two years ago the amount shipped after that date was 7158 carloads.

The anticipated shipment for the rest of the season is 3685 cars less than last year's production of 27 (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 5.)

DEATH RIDES HIGHWAYS

By the Associated Press

Accidents over the Labor day weekend took a toll of at least 204 lives over the nation, of which 257 were attributed to mishaps on the highways, a survey disclosed today.

New high travel records were set in many sections of the nation as holiday celebrants taxed transportation facilities in most states.

Highway accidents resulted in at least 257 deaths, while 20 persons drowned, 12 died in airplanes, four were killed by trains, four by falls, and seven by other accidental causes.

California led the nation in accidental deaths with 29 killed on highways, one by a fall and one drowned.

Juliana of Holland to Marry German Prince

(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press)

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands—A holiday romance in years. At the University of Leyden she studied law, philosophy, and theology, as well as economics, literature and an ardent devotee of sports.

He is Bernhard Zu Lippe-Bischof, a smart dresser, an expert linguist and an ardent devotee of sports.

The date for the wedding was not announced.

Juliana, who is 27 years old, two years older than the nobleman who is to become her prince consort, frequently has been the object of solicitude for Dutch matchmakers. They linked her name romantically for a time—with that of King Edward VIII of England as one of the five princesses "eligible" to wed the British monarch.

Juliana follows the example of her mother in marrying a German prince. Her father was Prince Hendrik of Mecklenburg, now dead. Prince Bernhard is well known in Berlin and Paris society. He finished school at the University of Berlin last year and became affiliated with the dye trust, serving in Paris as a sort of apprentice, without salary. His father died in 1934.

Juliana was brought up in most serious fashion under the watchful eye of her mother who, now 56, culture, and history. In 1930 she won the degree of doctor of philosophy and literature honoris causa.

The prince, it is believed, will assume the title of Prince of the Netherlands after he is wed.

PRINCESS JULIANA

State's Cake Has 86 Candles

Tribute to Orange county and California pioneers will be paid tomorrow by thousands of members of the Native Sons and Daughters of the Golden West, all born within this county or neighboring counties of the state, as California's Admission day is observed. In observance of the holiday,

Proclamation Issued

Proclaimed as a state holiday in observance of California's admission to the Union on Sept. 9, 1860, tomorrow has been set aside by Governor Frank Merriam as a "day of unusual significance in the history of California."

"On that day, 86 years ago," the governor's proclamation read, "this state was admitted to the Union on an equal footing with all the other states of which this nation was then comprised. The resolution of admission by the national congress gave the residents of this territory all the rights and privileges provided by the national government."

Fruits of Sacrifice

"Thus, our people inherited the practical ideals of constitutional government. Accordingly, we enjoy the rich heritage of today because of the wise judgment and sacrificial efforts of the authorities who added this Pacific seaport state to the already successful group then associated."

Although the local organizations will stage no formal observance of the day, their members will be mindful of the fact that tomorrow is the birthday of their native state.

HORTON PLANS $20,000 HOME

J. C. Horton, Santa Ana furniture man, is to build a $20,000 home at Park boulevard and Benton Way, building permit records disclosed today.

Napping John Terpeira, local builder, as the general contractor, a permit issued today set a figure of $16,000. Other subsidiary contracts, however, will bring the home to more than $20,000, it was said.

Of French provincial architecture, the home will be of two stories and 10 rooms. Frame, stucco, and rock will be used in its construction.

FORTS SHELL AND DISABLE 2 WARSHIPS

Vessels Are Towed To Beach And Rebellious
Crews Put in Irons

(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press)

LISBON, Portugal. — Alert Portuguese government gunners, pounding two mutinous warships with shells, crushed a brief naval rebellion in the Tagus river harbor off Lisbon today.

Disabled by a stream of fire from land batteries, the two vessels, manned by rebellious crews which planned to steam away from Lisbon for an undisclosed destination, were towed to a beach and their seamen thrown into chains.

British Ships Present

Two British steamers, the Asturias and the Strathmore, were close witnesses to the bombardment. The Asturias just had entered the Tagus when the engagement opened, but was untouched. The Strathmore, carrying several hundred British holiday-makers, entered the bay when the firing started but quickly withdrew.

(There were indications that censorship was delaying details of the revolt, including word as to whether the rebellion was connected with the Spanish civil war. Authoritarian Portugal, accused by Madrid of aiding Fascist rebels in Spain, has failed to definitely accept participation in the work of the international neutrality committee which meets at London tomorrow. It did accept conditionally some time ago, and announced that it would not intervene in the Spanish crisis.)

Rest of Country Quiet

Only quiet work by the batteries Alentejo and Almada prevented serious consequences of the revolt. Both ships were damaged, then towed to shallow water, beached, and the crews arrested.

Extraordinary precautions were taken in Lisbon by the government, but the rest of the country was declared to be quiet.

With a cotton swab as a weapon and a jar of agar jelly as ammunition, County Sanitary Inspector E. E. Frisby has launched a war against germs on drinking glasses in public places.

And out of his war, he disclosed today, may come city and county ordinances requiring glasses to be washed and sterilized until they meet definite standards of bacteria count. Just what standard to suggest to governing board is one thing his battle will determine.

Hunger Is Most Important

Scientists tell us that hunger is the most important of the natural instincts and impulses which affect the average man. When a person is hungry he wants something to eat—or else he is going to make somebody mighty uncomfortable. Sometimes this hunger is caused not by lack of something to eat, but by a desire for some new and different dish. Every wife knows that hubby likes a change in menu now and then. $200,000 IN BONDS SOLD BY N.B.

Part of Issue Voted For Sewer Projects Goes To Stapps Firm

Taking immediate steps to secure federal aid for installation of a new sewer system, members of the Newport Beach city council last night sold $200,000 in bonds from a $300,000 bond issue recently approved by beach voters.

Councilman said sale of the bonds would be of great aid in securing government help in completing the project, as almost two-thirds of cost of the work is now available in city funds. The bonds were sold to R. S. Stapps company and associates at par value plus four and one-half per cent accrued interest and a premium of $2528. They will be paid out over a period of 20 years, with the first $15,000 payment due in September, 1937.

Last month voters approved the bond issue, for renewing sewer mains, for installation of a disposal plant and connection with the county outfall sewer, and for a new line to Corona Del Mar and Balboa Island.

The city also concluded purchase of 220 lots from the county for back taxes at last night's meeting. The property, in Corona Del Mar, was purchased for $1 per lot. This action puts the city in the real estate business in a big way, with nearly 700 lots to be sold, to return the property to tax rolls.

FISK GETS NEW COLLEGE JOB

McKee Fisk, former dean of Santa Ana Junior college, who last spring was granted a leave of absence to study at Yale university, has accepted a position as head of the department of economics at Oklahoma University of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, it was announced today by Frank Henderson, local superintendent of schools.

No attempt will be made during the first semester to replace Fisk, Henderson said.

Fisk gained the leave when he was appointed to a teaching fellowship at Yale and completed his Doctor of Philosophy degree work. His thesis was "The Regional Junior College, Its Community Aspects as Typified by Southern Orange County."

Fisk, it was reported, declined several other offers, including one as director of the junior college of Wichita Falls, Texas.

New Students Must Register

All new students who will attend Willard Junior High school this year should register Thursday or Friday at 9 a. m., according to announcement today. Children coming to the school as sixth grade graduates of Santa Ana elementary schools are not required to register.

Mothers or students who wish information on uniforms may see Grace Lund at the junior high school from 10 a. m. to noon on Friday.

At the Julia Lathrop Junior High school registration for new students, who did not reside here last year, will start at 9 a. m. Friday and continue to noon. Students in elementary schools here last year need not register.

All junior high school students living south of First street or on the south side of First street will attend the Lathrop school.

Hall said Edwards' actions threatened the entire citrus price structure by flooding eastern states with more than the quota established by the secretary of agriculture.

The U. S. attorney's office here said the case was the first of its kind to reach a final decision. Judge Yankwich, in upholding the citrus agreement, ruled that the supreme court decision in the processing cases did not affect this portion of the act, which, he said, was a valid exercise of the power of congress to regulate commerce.

THOMAS SEES BIG LEMKE STRENGTH

NEW YORK. (AP)—Norman Thomas, the Socialist presidential candidate, said "the Lemke movement strength is greater than I would like to believe" in an interview today preliminary to a seven-weeks' stumping tour of the country.

Thomas, who has challenged Rep. William Lemke to a debate, said he thought the Union party candidate might win Minnesota, the Dakotas and Oregon on his own strength, but that east of the Mississippi river will be dependent upon the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin and Dr. Francis Townsend.

"If Coughlin and Townsend have strength in the East, Lemke may deliver in the election," said the candidate for the presidency.

The Socialist leader said he would rather debate Lemke than Landon "because at the moment Lemke is getting away with more murder."

"I feel kind of sorry for poor Alf. He isn't going across with any kind of a bang even with the people who hate Roosevelt. For some reason he doesn't appeal to the masses."

HITLER GREETED CONVENTION

NURNBERG, Germany. (AP)—Adolf Hitler, like a Caesar of old, dramatically entered this city of 800,000 Nazis today.

With Nurnberg plastered with posters proclaiming Bolshevism "World Enemy No. 1," the reichsfuehrer arrived late in the afternoon for the fourth annual party convention.

Hours prior to his arrival the three-mile road from the airport to Hitler's hotel had been lined with expectant throngs.

For half an hour following the Nazi chieftain's arrival in the city, the bells of all of Nurnberg's churches pealed.

EPIDEMIC CUTS CREW IN HALF

DUNKERQUE, France. (AP)—An epidemic, which cut the 24-man crew of the English freighter Sea Rambler in half during a tragic voyage from Dakar, came to light today with the vessel's arrival in this port.

Fearful survivors told how seven men dropped dead before the eyes of their comrades, while working in apparently perfect health. Five others were taken off the ship to a hospital at Madeira.

The ship remained at Madeira two weeks but doctors were at a loss to account for the strange mortality. She resumed her voyage and reached Dunkerque without further losses.

Four Killed In Crossing Crash

PORTERVILLE, (AP)—Struck with terrific impact by a Santa Fe train, a 33-year-old woman and three children died in the mangled wreck of their automobile at a street crossing near the city limits yesterday.

The victims, crushed and torn almost beyond recognition, were: Mrs. Rose Bailey; her son, John, 3; her daughter, Jacqueline, 5, and Ralph Bailey, 7, her nephew.

Anaheim Church Plans Revival

The Free Methodist church at Sycamore and Claudine streets, Anaheim, will start a series of special services tomorrow, it was announced today by the Rev. Alton C. Mamath, pastor.

The services will last through Sept. 20. At 4:30 p. m. each day there will be story hours for children, while the regular daily service will be at 7:30 p. m. Prof. C. Dorr Demaray will be the special evangelist.

WALNUT MEN CAR ACCIDENT RATE IS CUT IN HALF

BERKELEY. (AP)—Walnut industry leaders from California, Oregon and Washington met here today to consider proposed amendments to the AAA marketing agreement and order for handlers of walnuts grown in the three states.

The amendments were proposed by the walnut agreement control board following conferences with industry groups and the Agricultural Adjustment administration. They were designed to modify the marketing agreement program in the light of operating experiences.

One provision would establish a salable percentage of 75 per cent of the walnut crop for the year beginning Sept. 1, 1936, and ending Aug. 31, 1937. This would make the salable percentage 25. At present the salable percentage is 70 per cent and the surplus 30 per cent.

SPY RING REVEALED BY GOVERNMENT

MADRID. (AP)—Spanish Socialists have launched an energetic campaign against spies following the discovery of an intricate system by which the Fascist enemy was kept informed of many official moves.

For some time the government had known there was a "leak," but the break came at Valencia where police, searching the residence of a prominent minister, found a key to the well-organized espionage ring operating in Madrid and Barcelona.

The identities of some of these agents caused the government a severe shock. Included in the list were individuals enjoying full confidence and even some holding important posts in various ministries in Madrid.

One of the most important was employed in the war ministry where he had access to files containing copies of orders regulating government troop movements. Another was able to intercept—and even alter—confidential messages.

Immediately dozens of alleged spies were arrested.

RUSSIA HAS WAR GAMES

MINSK, Russia. (AP)—The Soviet high command assembled here—midway between Moscow and Berlin—today for annual war maneuvers.

Russia made no secret of its bristled back. Marshal Klement E. Voroshiloff, commissar of war and navy, sounded a warning to Germany preliminary to the start of the practice military operations.

"We have enemies within and outside our country," Voroshiloff declared. "We can deal with the numerically small internal enemies. But at the same time, the Fascist enemy is preparing to attack us from the outside. Let him prepare. We were ready long ago to resist him."

Officers emphasized their stand that there is no "drive" against speed and other violations, but that the five-man crew is maintaining the patrol regularly.

"The California Valencia orange market is strong with a fairly active demand and, with a decreasing amount of competition from deciduous and seasonal fruits, and with the supplies rolling to market in line with the anticipated demand for this season of the year, it seems reasonable to expect a continued favorable marketing opportunity for Valencia oranges for the balance of the season," the exchange said.

"The market on California lemons for the month of August, while somewhat below the very high prices that prevailed through July, has been very satisfactory. Extremely high temperatures which prevailed throughout much of the country during July also carried over into the first of August, which assisted materially in maintaining a strong demand for lemons during the early weeks of the month.

The market at the present time on large sizes is quite good. The extremely small sizes, however, are being discounted and with the fruit running heavy to small sizes at the present time it is quite probable that values will continue low on these sizes."

FRENCH FLIER SETS MARK IN RACE

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—The coveted Charles E. Thompson trophy, America's emblem of air speed supremacy, rested today in the possession of young Lieut. Michel Detroyat of France.

Thrilling a crowd of 80,000 at the National Air Races, and arousing an aftermath of spirited controversy, the dashing flier from Paris wrested the trophy from a crack field of American pilots yesterday.

Detroyat, flying a special-built Caudron-Renault racer which Col. Roscoe Turner of America charged was developed and paid for by the French government, flashed over the 150-mile course of 15 10-mile laps, in record time of 264.261 miles an hour. His speed, which reached 301 miles an hour on one lap, broke the record of 252.686 miles an hour hung up in 1932 by America's Maj. James H. Doolittle.

Detroyat's smashing victory, which he stoutly denied was the fruit of governmental subsidy, was the high spot of the official close of the 1936 national air show, acclaimed by promoters the greatest in its history.

Only a 50-mile race for the $3000 Shell cup trophy remained to be raced today. The event was postponed because of threatening fog over Municipal airport yesterday.

Lieutenant Detroyat captured $9500 first prize money yesterday and $4900 the day before in winning the Louis W. Greve trophy.

Others in Money

Finishing behind the French pilot in the Thompson race, their time and winnings, were: Earl Ortman, Los Angeles, 248.042 m.p.h., $4375; Roger Don Rae, Alhambra, 236.559 m.p.h., $2450; Harold Neumann, Kansas City, 223.074 m.p.h., $1575; Marion McKee, Englewood, 220.465 m.p.h., $1225; Harold Crosby, Glendale, 226.075 m.p.h., $875.

David Elmendorf, Palms, Calif., finished seventh, out of the money. Art Chester of Glenview, Ill., and Lee Miles of Wichita, Kan., were forced out midway in the race by motor trouble, and S. J. Wittman, Oshkosh, Wis., failed to get away from the starting line.

THIEF LOOTS TWO HOMES IN S.A.

Watches And Jewelry Taken By Robber Here On Labor Day

Two Santa Ana dwellings a block apart were entered and looted yesterday by a thief who forced open screen doors and used pass keys to gain entrance. In both cases upstairs bedrooms were ransacked. Watches and jewelry were taken.

City police indicated they believe the burglaries were done by the notorious "screen burglar" who was blamed for a series of more than a dozen robberies here last month.

The "screen burglar" last reported burglary here was a week ago when Councilman Joseph P. Smith's home was entered.

Mrs. C. C. Kirkham, operator of a rooming house at 407 West First street, reported at 10 p. m. that her establishment had been entered. A diamond ring and two watches were taken from the room of George C. Popoff.

The burglar had pulled the rear screen door loose and opened another door with a pass key.

Takes Two Watches
The home of J. R. Moore, 424 West Second street, was entered some time during the day by use of a pass key. When Moore returned at 8 p. m. he found an upstairs bedroom ransacked and two watches and a brooch missing.

Mrs. R. G. Wells, 508 North Van Ness street, reported finding a rear screen broken, but officers could find no evidence that the house had been entered.

Oil Companies Sued Over Lease

Seeking to quiet title to two parcels of potential oil property near Huntington Beach, and to cancel four oil leases on the property, William J. Williams and Anna E. Williams, and Fred H. Pope and Laurette R. Pope started suit in superior court today against four oil companies.

Defendants are the Pacific Southwest Oil company, Twentieth Century Oil company, D. D. Dunlap Oil company and the E. A. L. Oil company. The plaintiffs charge the leases, originally made to the Dunlap company, and sublet through them, are in default.

Parking Meters Are Hit Again

Santa Ana's rural residents don't want parking meters, the local Chamber of Commerce was informed today.

Two postcards, both mailed by persons living south of the city limits, arrived in this morning's mail. Each declared that the sender would not trade in Santa Ana if the devices were installed.

Chamber directors have gone on record as opposed to installation of meters. Both business men and customers seemed to be opposed to the installation, chamber officials said.

Pair Admit They Slew Mate of One

LAKE CITY, Mich. (AP) — Mrs. Eleanor Cook, 35, and George Relyea, 27-year-old farm hand married bigamously a month ago, pleaded guilty in circuit court to killing the woman's husband, William Cook, 40, of Detroit.

The court statements corroborated earlier confessions of Sheriff Earl Burkett that Relyea killed Cook with a shotgun Friday night when Cook paid a surprise visit to the farm he was buying near Dolph, Mich. Mrs. Cook had lived there since last fall.

Return Runaway To Juvenile Home

He got tired of the Orange county juvenile home, so he walked out.

City police found him, a young boy who had been held while awaiting admission to Pacific colony. He was in the county equipment yard yesterday afternoon. He was busily stringing iron washers on a piece of chain when they arrived. The boy's name is being withheld by The Journal.

Townsend News, Views

By WALTER R. ROBB

(This is a non-political, non-partisan column, dealing in Townsend news and views, and written by a prominent Townsend leader. Any opinions which are expressed herein are not necessarily those of The Journal.)

Orange county Townsendsites seem particularly interested in the mammoth Townsend mass meeting of that evening. The writer arrived at the auditorium at approximately 7 p. m. The meeting was scheduled to begin at 7:30. When I entered the building all of the seats on the main floor were filled and so the writer found a seat in the balcony from which he could view the speaking stand and at the same time get a thorough view of what was taking place on the main floor and also in the balcony portion of the audience.

In the near neighborhood of 8,000 had at this time assembled in the auditorium, which was later swelled to approximately 10,000 before the program began. On the speakers' platform there were some 75 chairs which as yet were empty, the only occupant of the speakers' platform being one lone man who was testing out the loud speaking arrangements. Streams of people were pouring into the building by way of every aisle in the quest of seats. The aislers were swamped with the rapidly coming crowd. The babbling of voices was general all over the crowd and the writer heard words in both approval and disapproval of the Townsend organization and its leaders.

One lady who sat near the writer was continuously talking of her displeasure and distrust of the Townsend leaders and the organization as well until she was forcibly requested by several to do her talking elsewhere. She subsided into a sullen quietness but not before having exploded, "Well they don't get any more of my money! They used too but not now!"

A man to the writer's left and farther in the balcony said, "I earn the money I get." Before the words were fairly out of his mouth a lady in the seat below him turned on him with fight in her eyes and bite in her voice as she said, "Huh! I earn my money too! I work darn hard and have been a hard worker all my life and when I get the Townsend pension I will have earned that too. What does the president want to give us? Huh! $15.00 per month. I'm for the Townsend plan, that's what I am."

The gentleman evidently sensed that here was a fighting female whom he did not want to tangle with and so he ignored her remark. At a few minutes before 7:30 the Boys and Girls Southgate band of some 50 pieces began to file down an aisle and onto the speaker's platform while the crowd, which was now getting restless for the program to begin, broke into applause. Within a few minutes the band leader was introduced and immediately announced a first number, signaled to the band and the concert began.

For the next 20 minutes the sound of lively band music entertained the crowd, which culminated in the fancy stepping and baton work of two girl drum majors which brought forth from that vast audience almost continuous and great applause. This band was in Santa Ana at the recent Townsend mass meeting held in the Santa Ana bowl and so you folks know that the writer is not exaggerating the cleverness of these girls nor the appreciation which this band evokes from Townsend audiences.

About this time, while the band was still playing, the audience began to applaud vigorously and almost in unison arose to their feet still continuing to applaud and looking down to the main floor the writer saw the cause for the demonstration—was Dr. Francis E. Townsend, the beloved founder of the Townsend plan, accompanied by other celebrities of the Town-

FIRST ISSUE OF EL DON APPEARS

Issue No. 1, Volume 13 of El Don, Santa Ana Junior college weekly newspaper, appeared on the campus today and was distributed to incoming freshmen students in conjunction with the annual freshmen days events.

Bob Swanson, editor; Frank Guthrie, sports editor; Harvey Baker, advertising manager, and Edward Velarde, last year's sports editor of the high school Generator, collaborated with the help of John H. McCoy, assistant director and journalism instructor at the college, in publishing this issue.

Next Issue Sept. 25

The special edition is an eight-page publication containing general Jaycee news, from the $6000 building project finished here this summer, to the first grid drill ordered for this afternoon by Coach Bill Cook.

Editor Swanson assumes the duties vacated last semester by Walt Bandick, of Orange. Swanson came from Surprise, Neb.

Issue No. 2 will not be published until Friday, Sept. 25. It was announced, because of the necessity to get organized before issuing the next paper.

Feature News Photos
McCoy was until last year both advisor of El Don and Santa Ana High school Generator, but with the added duties as assistant director of the college he will confine himself to advising the Jaycee students this year.

News pictures will again be featured in the columns of the college paper. Last year this innovation was inaugurated in the campus paper and proved to be a success. At the same time national all-American honors were won by El Don among weeklies published by normal schools and junior colleges.

Announcement as to the appointments of this semester's staff will be made known in another week, it was learned.

LOCAL MEN AT SCHOOL MEET

Teacher tenure and "Communist propaganda" were problems to be discussed today at the annual convention of the California School Trustees association in Ventura, with four members of the Santa Ana board of education attending.

George Wells, president of the local board, and a recently appointed trustee of the association; M. B. Youel, a member of the association nominating committee; Riley Smith, and Rolla R. Hays represented Santa Ana at the meeting.

First formal session was to be a luncheon at noon today, with Tom Riordan, California commander of the American Legion, Vierling Kersey, state superintendent of public instruction, and E. Raymond Cato, state chief of the California highway patrol, as speakers.

Paul J. Lichenfels, speakers' bureau manager of the Southern California office, was then presented to the audience as the master of ceremonies of the evening. After a few very fitting remarks in appreciation of the honor being given him, he introduced the Rotary Male quartet, who contributed two numbers to the enjoyment of the audience.

The writer has confined his statements today to a description of the setting which surrounded the evening—the Dr. Francis E. Townsend, quiet but masterful speaker and founder of our movement and the forceful dynamic state manager, Edward J. Margett. Tomorrow we will tell you of the messages which these two men brought to this great Southern California audience.

AAA Buys Little Cattle This Year

WASHINGTON. (AP) — Emergency buying of cattle in the drought area by the Agricultural Adjustment administration this year has amounted to only a small fraction of the 1934 purchases.

The AAA's records showed today the purchase of only 2964 head since the first purchases were authorized June 20.

During the 1934 drought, the AAA bought 8,280,000 head of cattle at a cost of approximately $112,000,000 in order to prevent demoralization of prices because of forced selling. In addition, $7,000,000 was spent for sheep and goats, for which no authorization has been made this year.

HIDEO IS HANDY-ANDY NEUFELD TO HARVARD

Spinning the sports wheel:
They rate Hideo Higashi highly at San Diego State, where the ex-Don Japanese is slated to play first-string fullback for Coach Leo Calland. . . Hideo is called the handy-andy of the Aztecs because he fits in well at center, halfback, end or fullback. . . he was the Southern Conference college's regular halfback and the team's leading scorer last year. . . another Santa Ana, Ben Slavin of the 1933 Don champions, must hustle to beat out his former jaycee rivals at end—Joe Frame of San Bernardino, Ed Smyth of Citrus.

How many wrestling and boxing shows were conducted in California during 1935? Exactly 2,531. The state commission reports 3,172,861 fans paid $2,030,872.52 to see these bouts. Attendance reached its peak in July, August and October. June was low.

Bob Holmes, the Dons' 190-pound center, would like to play outside halfback.

Good news to Eastern conference rivals: William (Bill) Neufeld, coach of Riverside Jaycees' perennial track champions, has accepted a position as freshman cinderpath coach at Harvard University. He also will assist with the varsity.

The Bengals will find difficulty selecting another coach as Neufeld, whose crafty shifting of athletes to get the most points out of them, pulled several meets out of the fire.

Short sport shorts: All-American Jay Berkey, who could have earned $10,000 per season as a professional, has signed for an assistant coaching berth at his alma mater, University of Chicago. . . he will handle the backs, of course. . . Mark Kelly, onetime Chicago and Los Angeles sports editor, has written "One in a Million" for the screen debut of Sonja Henie, Olympic figure-skating queen. . . The 1937 major league baseball campaign will open April 20, one week later than customary. . . White experts with a bow can outshot Indians on the target range, remarks John Cuneo, president of the Berkeley Archery club. . . More than 90 reels of film of the Olympic Games are being cut to a five or six-reel picture. . . Earl Averill, Cleveland's league-leading batter, is 33.

North Carolina Coach Will Install New Grid System

(Note.—This is sixth of series on prospects of major college football teams. Tomorrow: Nebraska.)

By ALDERMAN DUNCAN
Associated Press Staff Writer
CHAPEL HILL, N. C. (AP)—The University of North Carolina will state its hopes for the Southern Conference football championship on another well-balanced team, although probably not as polished and versatile as the 1935 eleven, which ranked eighth in the nation.

Larger and Faster
Carolina's new coach, Raymond (Bear) Wolf, has a grueling assignment in rebuilding a team that lost 11 lettersman and boasts one of the most ambitious schedules ever attempted by a tar-heel squad.

On paper, however, Carolina bulks potent. The first team is shaping up larger and faster than the eleven which ran wild last year until smashed by Duke.

Taking over where Carl Shively, now at Cornell, left off, the one-time Texas Christian university coach finds three-quarters of the brilliant 1935 backfield and a generous slice of the line gone. But, in some of the ablest of last season's material remaining to silver the cloud's lining.

The nucleus of the 1936 team is composed of Jim Hutchins, 205-pound fullback and a clever passer; Dick Buck and Andy Bershak, two flashing flankers; John Trimpey, 225-pound tackle, and Van Webb, a robust guard.

Other returning lettermen include Crowell Little and Dick Dashiell, speedy backs, adept at tossing the pigskin; Pete Avery, 190-pound pivot man; Henry Bartos, a tackle who scaled 205, and Charlie McIver, Paul Pendergast and Eld Palmer, three hustling guards.

Wolf, fresh from the fields of Texas, where footballs fill the air in almost every game, is going to stress a strong passing attack. The new coach has installed the double wing-back formation, an innovation at North Carolina.

The Tar Heel forward wall should go into battle averaging approximately 195 pounds. The backfield will average 180 or slightly more.

The schedule:
Sept. 26, Wake Forest at Charlotte; Oct. 3, Tennessee; Oct. 10, Maryland; Oct. 17, New York university at New York; Oct. 24, Tulane at New Orleans; Oct. 31, North Carolina state; Nov. 7, Davidson at Davidson; Nov. 14, Duke; Nov. 21, South Carolina at Columbia; Nov. 28, Virginia at Charlottesville.

FOOT MOBILIZES SAINTS TOMORROW

BY-C'S TITLE ANNEXED BY N. Y. BOAT

Harlan (Hook) Beardslee
Loses, 160 to 157, to
Adrien Iselin III

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—With flag bedecked myth symbolizing a world championship safely in the possession of her owner, Adrien Iselin III, the international star boat Ace headed back to home waters of western Long Island sound today.

Though Iselin and the Ace failed to win one of the five races sailed in Lake Ontario off the port of Rochester, a consistent performance against the pick of the world's finest star class sailors piled up enough points to win the championship handsily.

Phar Lap Wins
The win brought the championship to the east coast for the first time in four years.

The concluding race of the series sailed yesterday was won by Phar Lap, skippered by Dr. and Mrs. Neil Martin of Santa Barbara, Calif. But the championship hinged on the points scored by the ace and the defending champion, Hook Beardslee's By-C, of Newport Harbor, Calif. When Ace finished second and By-C was able to take only sixth in the field of 35 starters, the title was decided.

In individual wins during the series, the west coast bettered the performances of east coast skipper, California boats taking three of the five races.

Point Totals

The new champion scored 160 points to By-C's 157. Yesterday's clutch race was sailed over a five-mile triangle, twice around and although By-C and Ace started on almost even terms ahead of the fleet of 35 district champions from half a dozen foreign ports and the remainder from scattered points in the United States, Iselin forged ahead on the first beat up the wind.

Glenn Morris to Join Pro Eleven

DETROIT, (AP)—George (Potsy) Clark, coach of the Detroit Lions, championship professional football team, said today that Glenn Morris, Olympic decision champion, would report this week-end to the Lions for a tryout.

Clark said Morris, who is being given a civic reception in Denver in recognition of his smashing victory in the all-around track and field test at Berlin recently, would try for either a backfield or an end position with the Lions.

Santa Monica's Doubles
Crown Decided After Five Gruelling Sets

Miss Marjorie Lauderbach and Lewis Wetherell of the Santa Ana Tennis club were sporting new honors today—the women's singles and men's doubles championships of the Santa Monica City Invitational.

Before 1500 spectators on the beach courts yesterday, Wetherell, the newly-crowned king of the National Public Parks tournament in St. Louis, teamed with Bill Doeg of Santa Monica to defeat Ronald Lubin and George Toley in five sensational sets, 4-6, 7-5, 6-3, 3-6 and 13-11.

The men's doubles finale ran three and a half hours in which the champions were repulsed at match points eight times.

Miss Lauderbach defeated May Doeg, sister of Bill Doeg, 8-6, 6-1, for the women's singles title. She also trimmed the Santa Monica girl in the Santa Ana Open here last month. Miss Lauderbach outsteered her rival in the back court exchanges in the first set, and carried her attack to the net to annex the second.

Dr. Gerald Bartosh and 18-year-old Bernie Coghlan will meet at Lincoln park next Sunday to complete a match for the men's singles crown.

Hangman Holds Levin To Draw on Mat Here

By BOB GUILD

There is something new under the vesting sun, and the adage was proved last night at the Orange County Athletic club.

Champion Dave Levin and Hangman Howard Cantowine wrestled an hour to a draw at the highway palace of pachyderms—and for the better part of 50 minutes they resorted to straight wrestling and legitimate holds for the thrills.

Not till the closing minutes of the torrid struggle did the Hangman's better nature get the better of him. When it did he went as rampant as usual, kicking, kicking and virtually sawing the Brooklyn butcher boy's head off in the ropes, but by that time it was too late for him to lose, and the battle remained a draw, one fall apiece.

Hangman Retaliates
Cantowine looked like a loser for the first 30 minutes. Levin twisted him into more knots than an erratic pretzel, and punished him severely with a devilish wrist lock before clamping down with a stepover arm-lock to cop the first fall in 31:52.

Howard returned to the wars with a vengeance, exhibiting a body slam that Levin liked very little, and a series of arm and head locks that bothered the Brooklyn boy considerably. The Hangman crawled on top with a leg lock and toe hold, after 12:14, to take the fall. It looked like he had to hold Levin down for night on 10 minutes before Referee Don McDonald would admit it.

PROS CONQUERED AT LAST

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—The college football ranks boasted loudly today of their first victory over a professional eleven—a 7 to 6 whipping handed the Chicago Bears here last night by the Centennial All-Stars before 25,000 fans.

Heroes of 1935 from the south and southwest featured the mid-season thriller played in 90-degree heat at the Texas Centennial Exposition's Cotton Bowl.

But it took a blocked goal kick off the toe of Jack Manders, who had missed only three of his last 150 attempts, to gain the triumph.

The All-Stars scored first, in the third quarter. Jim Lee Howell, University of Arkansas, intercepted a dangerous flat zone pass Gene Ronzani, Bruin halfback, tossed on his own 25-yard stripe, and headed goalward. Ronzani caught him a foot from the goal.

ESTRADA BOXES VARGAS HERE

Julian Estrada, San Bernardino's hard-hitting leather thrower, will draw the main event with Ray Vargas of Atwood in the Orange County Athletic club's amateur fights Thursday night.

Maxie Moore, rugged Orange youth who recently annexed the California National Guard championship, and who has won his last 20 bouts, will face Marcus Rey of San Bernardino, who claims 30 knockouts in 50 starts.

Santa Ana's former prep and jaycee football satellite, Fred (Porky) Bell, will have a prominent part on the eight-bout card against Jack Ryan, an Irish "maker" from San Bernardino. Bell is making a comeback after an absence of several weeks from the ring.

Raoul Solis and Don Benzer will be other Orange county battlers appearing against San Bernardino talent.

Will Be Honored in
Nightball Tonight

Huntington Beach's Oilers, making their first appearance since winning the National Nightball league title from Santa Ana in four straight games, will play the Orange Cubs in a post-season exhibition at the Municipal bowl at 8:15 tonight.

The game has been arranged (1) in honor of Roger Larimer, Orange's sensational rookie twirler and (2) to keep Joe Rodgers' Oilers in trim for their Southern California playoff with the survivor of the American league series between San Bernardino's Stubbs and Colton's Reds.

Louie (The Great) Neva will be on the mound for the champions. The game will be split 60-40 in Orange's favor after expenses are deducted.

The Orange commission has made tentative arrangements for a return game at Huntington Beach Friday night despite talk of another game at the Municipal bowl between the Oilers and an all-star team of Santa Ana, Orange, Anaheim, Olive and Westminster talent.

Tommy Lacy, Santa Ana athlete who has recovered from the mumps, probably will be at third base for Orange tonight. Ray Short will be in left field. No other lineup changes are planned.

Brick Dust

Here and There With The Journal's
Rambling Editor
By I. N. (BRICK) GAINES

MORAL: Don't sport riding britches and boots unless mounted on some old nag. You might be taken for a theater usher. Or a policeman.

And don't wear a ritzy yachting cap unless you're on a yacht. Or at least a rowboat. You might be taken for a milkman or laundryman.

Consider the case of LeRoy Waldron, assistant postmaster at Laguna Beach. He's also secretary of the Lions club and very well known in the artist colony.

Waldron has a very fine yachting cap. A perfect duck of a creation that brings visions of bounding billows and slapping sails to the mind of every boat enthusiast. Waldron prefers the cap to the usual summer straw affair.

The other day he was standing on a corner, waiting for a yacht or something to come by, when a woman—summer resident—spotted that cap. Being an expert conclusion-jumper, she immediately decided Waldron was her milkman, and not only told him to cease leaving cream at her home, but also offered to pay up the milk bill.

Imagine her surprise when the owner of the yachting cap stepped out a couple of "Heaven-Ho's" and informed her he was an admiral in the Swiss navy!

Chief Gus Barnes, arm of the law in Placentia, went a-hunting. Gus wasn't gone very long, and brought back a fine deer. It had horns, too.

But the fact that Gus brought home his deer's head, half the town was out. The other half concerns another deer, one that didn't come along with the policeman.

It seems that Gus had potted the first animal, and was performing whatever rites one performs when he's been successful in a hunting expedition. He'd unsheathed his hunting knife and was about to attack the critter, when another deer appeared on the scene, walked right up to him, almost, and said, "Phooey!"

Gus was unnerved. He's not accustomed to having deer stare him in the eye and say, "Phooey!" He grabbed his gun and fired, but the deer just went away. With a muzzling laugh.

But the police chief is going to eat venison, anyway.

Corb Sarchet, newspaper publisher over in Brea, celebrates his first birthday as an editor in the oil town.

Additional publicity for Westminster through the 5-year-old lino-type operator there, Jimmie Branninger.

Son of publishers of the Westminster Gazette, the youngster is mentioned in the Sunday Mirror, New York publication, and in Who's Who in the Composing Room, a national publication.

Word that Newport-Balboa again will be hosts to Sea Scouts in November.

Last year something like x 600 Scouts stayed at a huge camp, and ate tons of provisions, sailing boats and having races between meals.

Lloyd Claire, Fire Chief Frank Crocker, George Gordon, John Siegel, J. D. Watkins and Mayor Harry Williamson will be in charge of the affair again this year. They're worrying already about buying enough provisions to supply somewhere around 1000 boys with food for several days.

I can give 'em a good recipe for cooking macaroni!

Congratulations to Anaheim! New high school building, almost finished, is a beautiful job. It's a big building, with auditorium facing Center street. Fine proportioned, solid concrete.

Other towns also busy with their schools. Fullerton, new junior college building nearing completion. Also several elementary buildings. Remodeling lots of 'em, tearing others down.

Placentia, new school auditorium now under construction. New classroom building, one of the most attractive in the county, just finished. One other concrete structure now going up. Several stucco buildings.

Brea—working over high school building. Big job. Also new elementary school program. Same for La Habra. Same for Cypress. And Laora.

I wonder if all those new buildings will make it easier for kids to stop vacationing next week? You can answer that one!

TANGO SIGNERS ASK ACTION BY GROUP

New Ordinance Or Vote Is Demanded By 400 Residents of Area

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Faced by two courses of action, either calling a special election or adopting an ordinance licensing tango parlors, the city council is slated to receive a petition demanding the action at a meeting here tonight. The petition is reported signed by more than 400 residents.

City Clerk C. R. Furr said today he will certify to sufficiency of names on the petition tonight, as he has checked names of signers since the petition was presented several days ago.

The petition is said to demand a special ordinance licensing the game. Considerable secrecy has surrounded the demand, and it is not known whether a limit is set on number of games to be allowed in the community.

The move on the part of the tango supporters climaxes a long fight over the games, some residents claiming that revenue now goes to other beach clubs and tango parlors. Church organizations and others fought proposed establishment of the parlors some time ago.

The council tonight may call a special election, adopt an ordinance allowing the games, or may delay action for 30 days, calling a vote on the matter at the same time as the November general election.

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Ed Kretz, Pomona truck driver, rode away with virtually all prizes in the last day's program of the annual American Motorcycle association, held here Saturday, Sunday and Monday in conjunction with the Black Gold Days celebration.

Others placing in the feature event were Bruce Pearson, Los Angeles, second; Harold Redder, Los Angeles, third; Jimmy Braithwaite, Los Angeles, fourth; Gene Miller, Pasadena, fifth and Jess Woods, Huntington Beach, sixth.

The 50-mile race, which was run over a one-mile course, concluded a three-day program of thrills, including motorcycle and motor cycle exhibitions. About 2000 members of the association took part, it was reported.

LAGUNA HOTELS TO EXPAND

LAGUNA BEACH.—In anticipation of an increasing volume of business, both Hotel Laguna and The Villa cottages are making plans for extensions and improvements, inquiries disclosed today.

Plans for adding a new wing to the present hotel structure, thus adding about 30 guest rooms to the present housing capacity, are under consideration by the management of the Laguna Hotel corporation, it was learned. If the project is approved, it is planned to start construction work this fall so as to have the new wing ready for occupation next spring.

Construction of several new up-to-date cottages on a recently acquired lot, purchased from Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Anderson, adjoining the Villa property, and a thorough overhauling of all cottages, including new roofs, larger closets, and various types of utility accommodations, are planned by Ralph Gray, owner of The Villa. HOUSE-PARTY MURDER

By Mildred Spink Gleason

Late one night, Harriet Blanes, a wealthy but eccentric old invalid, is murdered in her bed in her isolated country house. In the house, aside from her servants, are her niece and nephew, Joan and Ricky, and three men—Rodney Mains, Stephen Carts and William Groce—who she had invited for the week-end. Timothy Kelly, whom Joan had invited, and Ruth Andrews, trained nurse, as a blizzard has cut them off from the outside world, they are forced to take things into their own hands. On the night after the crime, Ricky brazenly announces that he will know the murderer by morning. Ruth Andrews, who is in love with him, begs Joan to stop him from doing anything dangerous.

"Can't help it, can I?" sarcastically. "Promise me, please." She lowered her voice, hearing footsteps coming up the stairs, and went on urgently. "Promise me that you'll be careful!"

"She heard him laugh then—a nervous, high-pitched laugh that worried her."

"I promise to be careful."

"She would have to be content with that. Besides Ricky was in bed. His door was locked. What danger could there be?" Ruth Andrews strained her eyes had probably made a mountain out of a molehill.

"Good night, Ricky."

"Good night." His voice sounded muffled, as though he had turned over in bed.

As she moved away from the William, Stephen, Rodney and Timothy appeared around the bend in the corridor.

"Ricky in bed?" asked William.

Joan nodded. "Good night, all." She smiled pleasantly.

As they separated to go to their different rooms, it no longer being considered necessary for Timothy and William to share quarters and guard the key, Timothy lagged behind to speak to Joan.

"Keep your door locked, and don't go prowling about tonight," he said in a low voice.

"Is he wishing you sweet dreams?" Rodney called.

Joan forced a smile to her stiff lips.

"Very sweet."

She wanted to question Timothy, but he made a warning gesture and disappeared down the corridor.

Regaining her room, she found the nurse waiting tensely.

"He wouldn't let me in," she said briefly. "But I spoke to him through the door. He was already in bed, and he promised to be careful."

Ruth Andrews covered her face with her hands. Joan wanted to say something reassuring, but she needed to be reassured herself after Timothy's grim order. So he was worried, too? That reflection did not help much to ease her mind.

"Would you care," the nurse asked suddenly, "if I spent the night with you? I'm afraid to be alone. I could sleep on the couch."

Joan hesitated a moment. After Miss Andrews' suspicious remarks about her that afternoon, the idea of sharing a room with her was not very pleasant. Still, this strange girl was probably going to be her sister-in-law, and be-

HEALING TALK OVER KVOE

A particularly interesting and informative explanation of a certain method of healing will be made in this evening's "Keep Smiling" broadcast, scheduled from KVOE at 8 o'clock.

It will tell what disease is; how it can be overcome by a logical, practical and scientific method, and why it is within everyone's right and power that it should be conquered.

An old song of the south, said to be sung as only the Sons of the Pioneers can sing it, "Down the Lane to Happiness," a solo number by Lem Snye of the group called "Memories of the Range," and a harmonization of "Auld Lang Syne" will be heard in tonight's presentation of the Sons of the Pioneers on KVOE at 6:45.

Veterinarians say many "mad" dogs are merely dogs running around looking for a drink of water in hot weather.

H. M. TEDFORD WILL ATTEND CONCLAVE

Journal Foreman Leaves
Tomorrow as Delegate of S. A. Union

H. M. Tedford, foreman of The Journal's mechanical department, will represent Santa Ana Typographical union No. 579 at the eighth convention of the International Typographical union at Colorado Springs, Colo., Sept. 12 to 19.

While at the convention, Tedford will give plenty of advertising to Orange county. He will use especially printed cards, one at the bottom of which is the slogan, "Santa Ana, the center of the Orange Empire, where Nature smiles." These cards, distributed among delegates to the convention, will attract attention to this city among union men from throughout the nation.

Tedford, traveling by train, will leave Los Angeles Wednesday night, he said today. He plans to return here by Sept. 23.

Three issues, Tedford believes will make the convention a tense affair. He anticipates the American Federation of Labor controversy with John L. Lewis of the United Mine workers will be the spark which will set off some hot arguments.

The strike of the news workers of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer will be another topic calculated to bring forth much discussion, Tedford believes.

The radio will be the third issue to be discussed. Many thousands of union members have lost work as a result of radio, Tedford said. National advertising on the radio is one of the problems which the convention probably will attack, he further stated.

The Journal foreman, a veteran in the business, attended similar conventions at San Francisco in 1911 and at Los Angeles in 1915. He was a visitor at the Long Beach convention in 1932.

Passion Play Aides Announced

William W. Garvin will head Elks' committee in charge of arrangements for presenting as a Christmas charity fund benefit two performances of the great European Passion Play in the Santa Ana municipal bowl, Sept. 16 and 17.

Assisting Garvin will be G. P. Campbell, outdoor advertising; John A. Miller, chorus and church; Elmer S. Sullivan, tickets; E. S. Layton, house committee. Ticket sales will begin in a few days at the Passion Play headquarters, 114 East Fourth street.

An English version of a German production of the Passion Play, originated in 999 A. D. and the predecessor of all drama, the presentation consists of 20 scenes, depicting in three hours the highlights of the seven last days of Christ on earth.

ington to Wilson over a period of 12 years.

He has increased the taxes 14 times to get the money for his spending spree, so that today the necessities of life to an American family have increased to over 20 per cent in a little over three years. The food on the table has increased to over 44 per cent in the same period. The expense of clothing has gone up 20 per cent.

The tax collections of the federal government have gone up 125.4 per cent, while the national income has increased only 31.3 per cent. These statistics were assembled by government authorities.

Planned extravagance is not only piling up burdens of debt for posterity, but is laying its oppression on all the people of the United States.

According to the American Federation of Labor, March 1936, there were still 12,184,000 unemployed. In January of this year there were at least 19,000,000 receiving relief benefits, Relief Administrator Hopkins reported.

New Dealers say that prosperity is here. Can any country have prosperity with 19,000,000 people on relief and 12,184,000 still unemployed?

Dedicate New High School in Public Ceremonies Tomorrow

Santa Ana high school's new plant, with the first two major units completed, will be dedicated tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. Ready for use this year are the administration building, in the center foreground of the accompanying architect's drawing, containing the main auditorium, little theater, library, and offices; and the adjoining building at the left, housing science buildings. Two buildings shown at the right are under construction and will be ready within a few months.

Representing the last word in modern school buildings, both in architectural beauty and in equipment for instructing students, Santa Ana Polytechnic High school's new plant will be dedicated to the public tomorrow night. Invitation has been extended to all Santa Anans interested in the school to attend the ceremony, which will present a program featuring musical artists connected with the school system. Seats will be provided in both the main auditorium and the Little Theater, which have inter-communicating stages. A public address system has been installed for the occasion.

Cotton to Talk

George R. Wells, president of the Santa Ana board of education, will make the formal presentation of the building, to be accepted by Lynn H. Crawford, high school principal. Mrs. Florence Givens, vice president of the Parent-Teacher association council, and Hamilton H. Cotton will give short addresses of greeting.

Music will include tenor solos by Herbert G. Bickel, recent addition to the school music department, who will sing "Dedication," "My Lovely Celia," and "Spirate Pur Sprate." Mrs. Dudley Page Harper will play a piano solo, "Autumn," by Chamblaine, in the first public use of a Steinway concert grand piano purchased by the board of education this summer.

Introduce Board

The Rev. Mr. O. Scott McFarland, pastor of the Santa Ana First Presbyterian church, will deliver the invocation. Members of the board of education will be introduced: George R. Wells, president; L. V. Margaret D. Wells, secretary; Hays, Ridley C. Smith and Marion B. Youel.

D. K. Hammond, now dean of the junior college, and high school principal from 1918 to 1935, will be a speaker, as will be J. E. Allison, representing Allison and Allison, architects; and Allison G. Honer, representing the contractors, Means, Ball and Honer.

Although only two major units of the school plant have been built, and the reconstruction program is expected to carry into 1937, the entire plant, school authorities said. The public will be invited to inspect the structures following the program.

Most spectacular feature of the new unit is the combined auditorium, seating 1574, and the Little Theater, seating 196. The two halls, decorated in a modern theme with gold, tan, gray and blue predominating, have stages which join. Normally separated by a vertically-rising door, the stages can be thrown together for special effects.

Lighting and scenery arrangements make the two auditoriums rivals of the better commercial playhouses in equipment. Each has a separate switchboard controlling house and stage lights, which may be dimmed, directed, and varied in color at will for special effects.

Back drops, cycloramas, flies, and other stage appointments are counterweighted so that they may be moved and rearranged almost instantly. Provision is made in the main auditorium for motion picture projection. A telephone system connects the switch board with dressing rooms, the director, and the projection room.

Old Buildings

Calm and dignity are heightened by decoration and lighting in the new library, administrative offices, and study hall.

A new locker system guards against loss of books and personal effects, Principal Crawford explained. Combination locks snap shut automatically and make it impossible for students to leave lockers open. A master key retained in the principal's office gives access to any locker.

Now under construction and expected to be ready next month is

PACIFIC QUEEN HEADED HOME

The full-rigged sailing ship Pacific Queen, with 39 San Diego county Sea Scouts aboard, today was being towed safely into port by the Coast Guard cutter Shoshone, after being unreported for 30 days.

Fears of parents of the boys were allayed when the message was flashed from Coast Guard headquarters at San Diego.

The windjammer, which had left more than two months ago for what was to be a 30-day cruise after marine specimens, had been becalmed 675 miles west of Los Angeles, an Associated Press dispatch today said, and had to be provisioned five times by passing boats.

It had no radio sending apparatus, and was unable to broadcast word of its whereabouts and condition. It had left San Diego July 4. It is expected to arrive at San Diego Wednesday.

Among Sea Scouts making the trip on the Pacific Queen was Billy Wintermeyer, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Deu Pree, of Silverado canyon.

The commercial and mathematics building, the home economics and music building and a new shop building are under construction and are to be ready for the second semester.

A science building, already completed, will be thrown open to the public tomorrow night.

Boy, 2, Chokes on Sand Thrown on Him by Playmates

HAYWARD, Calif. (AP) — His mouth and throat choked with sand presumably playfully tossed at him by other youngsters, two-year-old Kent Whetstone was found dead in his back yard.

His twin brother and two four-year-olds were his companions at play when he fell, striking his head on a sandbox. As he lay unconscious and motionless, the other youngsters, unaware of the tragedy, joyfully sprinkled him with sand.

Dr. H. C. Crockett had to wash out Kent's throat and nostrils before he was able to attempt artificial respiration. The boy was the son of Dr. Monroe Whetstone, Hayward dentist.

F. D. R. SEEKS FIRE CURB

Fire prevention week will begin in Santa Ana and throughout the nation on Oct. 4.

A proclamation designating the week as a time for seeking further curbing of fire losses has been issued by President Roosevelt. It follows:

"Whereas the annual fire loss in the United States includes thousands of human lives taken and hundreds of millions of dollars of property values destroyed; and

Loss Reduced

"Whereas this loss has been materially reduced by the preventive measures adopted during recent years; and

"Whereas further improvement can be brought by our common effort to eliminate fire hazards and to prevent destructive fires in the home, school, factory and forest, and on the farm;

Asks Cooperation

"Now, therefore, I, Franklin D. Roosevelt, President of the United States of America, do hereby proclaim and designate the week beginning Oct. 4, 1936, as fire prevention week, and I invite the cooperation of all of our people in the further elimination of existing fire hazards to the end that the loss of life, the destruction of property, and the suffering caused thereby may be still further reduced."

SCHOOLS AND MWD CAUSE INCREASE

Official Rate Schedule
Confirms Prediction
of Larger Bill

Prediction by The Journal that tax bills of Santa Ana residents would be larger this year had been confirmed today by the official schedule of tax rates adopted by the board of supervisors.

For every $100 of assessed valuation, local taxpayers will pay $4.60 this year as compared with $4.58 last year.

This increase comes despite action of the board of supervisors in lowering the county tax rate 7 cents and action of the city council in lowering the city rate 5 cents.

Saving Wiped Out

Boosted rates for the Metropolitan Water district, high school and high school bonds more than offset savings in other lines.

Rate for the high school special fund jumped from 56 cents last year to 61 cents this year. The rate for high school bond interest and sinking fund jumped from 26 cents to 31 cents because of the earthquake damage rebuilding program. Metropolitan Water district hoisted its rate from 20 cents last year to 27 cents this year. These contributed a total increase of 27 cents.

Reductions Listed

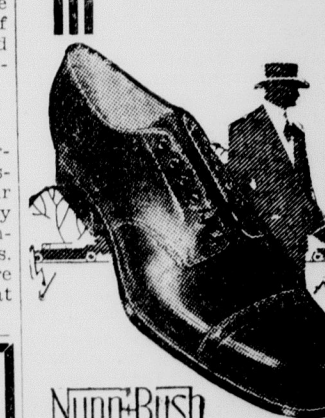

Partly offsetting the gains were a reduction of the county rate from 69 cents to 62 cents; reduction of the city rate from $1.55 to $1.50; lowering elementary school bond rate from 33 cents to 27 cents; lowering the county harbor rate from 3 cents to 1 cent; and lowering the rate for Santa Ana boulevard district from 30 cents to 25 cents.

But the reductions amounted to only 25 cents, two cents less than the total increases. As a consequence, tax bills will be that much larger.

Portions of the local tax rate which remained unchanged from last year were the elementary school special fund, 37 cents; junior college, 18 cents; cemetery district, 1 cent, and flood control district, 10 cents.

Tea Cups and Saucers Presented to Bride-Elect in Unique Shower Courtesy

Old England Inspires Party

Miss Pauline Wells Is Honored by Cousins in Los Angeles

A breath of old England pervaded the home of Dr. and Mrs. C. St. Martin Wells in Los Angeles Saturday night when they presided as hosts at a family dinner party and tea cup shower for their cousin, Miss Pauline Wells, of Santa Ana.

Each of the guests, most of whom were relatives of Miss Wells, brought an odd cup and saucer to the bride-to-be, who is to be married next Saturday to C. Douglass Ferry of Los Angeles.

The hospitable home of English architecture, with its living room, dining room, and sunroom all thrown open for the party, lent itself admirably to the type of party chosen for this courtesy to the popular Santa Ana girl, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Wells of Victoria drive.

Zinnias in Rooms
Zinnias, the flower so often found in the English garden, were used in decoration throughout the house and on the one big table and two smaller ones at which the dinner was served in true English family style.

Typical English dishes made up the menu, starting with the big meat pie and concluding with a delicious shortcake. Coffee and tea, jams and jellies, and a variety of relishes further carried out the English theme.

Music and Games
After dinner the hosts, both of whom are talented musicians, entertained the group, the former playing the cornet and his wife accompanying him at the piano and playing solos on her instrument.

Miss Evelyn Greathouse of Redondo, one of the guests, entertained with a group of interesting readings.

Miscellaneous games appropriate to the occasion were played in the evening, the bride-to-be's mother winning first prize for the ladies and W. O. Wells, first for men, in a "Bride's Prophecy" guessing contest. Mrs. Wells' award was a pretty syrup pitcher, and Mr. Wells, a unique ash tray.

Guests at this delightful affair, in which Mr. Ferry shared honors with his fiancée, were the two honored guests, and the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George R. Wells, Mrs. Edith Osborn, and Miss Vera Osborn, all of Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Wells and son, Robert, Dr. and Mrs. W. Wilton Wells, Wendell Fowler, Miss Verna Larson, Richard Fowler, and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Phillips, all of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. M. I. Greathouse and daughter, Evelyn, and Frank Stumps, of Redondo, and the hosts.

MAGILLS RETURN FROM MEXICO

Dr. Feryl Magill and Miss Julia Magill have returned from a six-week vacation trip into Mexico, and Dr. Magill is back at her office on North Main street, where Dr. Mabel Tremaine has been substituting for her during her absence.

While the vacationists were away, Mrs. Elsie Whitney, an old schoolmate of the doctor, and the former's daughter, Marian, occupied the Magill home. Miss Marian Whitney has entered the training class of the Orange County hospital.

PATTERN 9964

Just "going on six"—youthful "head" of a large doll family, yet she's as clothes-conscious as her own fashion-wise mother who stitched this cunning bloomer frock. Surely she's going to want several versions of this comfy style with its full pleats, so why not one in vividly colored gingham, brightly sprigged percale, dimity or pique, for "every-day" and a party version of dainty dotted Swiss or satin finish fabric. You'll find the easy pattern with its accompanying complete Diagrammed Sew Chart so simple to cut, fit and stitch that the whole business goes just like that! Special points of the frock are its interesting panel-puffed sleeves (long or short) and perky Peter Pan collar.

Dinner Marks Officers and A Silver Wedding Trailers Feted

Honored by their two sons, Max and Ray Bush, at a gala dinner party and informal evening in a pretty flower-filled setting in the M. W. A. hall, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Bush of 107 West Pine street will have happy memories of their silver wedding anniversary which inspired the party Sunday evening.

The bride and bridegroom of 25 years, the former in a blue crepe dress with corsage of white roses, received their guests at 7:30 o'clock, assisted by the sons, who arranged the courtesy in their honor.

Blue and Silver Motif
When the 60 invited guests had assembled they found their places at long tables, their places marked with blue and silver cards in the form of the numerals "25" and their napkins in silver paper rings with blue hearts on the crest. A beautiful white wedding cake bore the number of the anniversary in the frosting and a little bride and groom framed the center decoration.

Mrs. Ray Bush, daughter-in-law of the honored guests, and Miss Louise Sartor also assisted in receiving, and assisting in the serving were six other young friends, the Misses Mary Sartor, Velma Armstrong, Loreen Quandt, Mabel Verner, Helen Nehrig, and Harriet Quandt. All wore white dresses. The two sons served the punch.

Asters, pompon dahlias and other mixed flowers decked the hall for the occasion, and dancing to music of Ray Gilbert's orchestra followed the refreshment course.

Speeches of congratulation were given for the couple by William Nehrig of Orange acting as toastmaster, and Miss Helen Nehrig, entertained with a clever reading.

The lovely gifts, many of silver, and the baskets of flowers sent by friends, added to the decorations in the hall.

Among the guests participating in the gala evening were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wright and son, Junior, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Sartor and daughters, Mary and Louise, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gilbert, and Robert Anderson, all of Santa Ana.

Mr. and Mrs. Gustave Bush and sons, Gustave and Arthur, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Quandt and daughter, Loreen, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Quandt and daughter, Harriet, Mr. and Mrs. August Werner and daughter, Mabel, Mr. and Mrs. George F. Schenck, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Kappmeyer, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Gallentine, Carl Liemann and daughters, Gertrude and Ruth, Miss Marian Roderberg, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Armstrong and daughter, Velma, Miss Luella Quandt, Mr. and Mrs. Duker, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Liemann, Albert Bush, all of Orange.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Quandt, Jr., Mrs. Ruby Quandt, Mr. and Mrs. August Pipenbrink, and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bush, of Anaheim; Mrs. Jean Long, Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Queyrel and daughter, Leah, of Placentia; and the guests of honor and son, Max.

A pleasing feature of the evening was reading of a special delivery letter from the Rev. Mr. E. J. Becker of Minnesota Lake, Minn., who married the couple on September 5, 1911, in Gerald, Mo. The Bushes later moved to Denver and then to Santa Ana, where they have lived for the past eight years. Mr. Bush has his own barber shop in the city.

FRIENDS HONOR GOWDYS

Camille and the surprised honor guests at a party Friday night when members of their birthday club and a few other friends gathered at their home to honor the August birthday anniversaries of the pair.

After the surprise, the guests took the Gowdys with them to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Chapman, club members, on McCleary street, where an evening of bridge, concluding with the serving of birthday cakes and ice cream, was enjoyed. Bridge prizes were won by Mr. and Mrs. John Turton, high, and Mr. and Mrs. William DeWolf, guests of the club, low.

Others present were the Messrs. and Mesdames Verle Van Benthussen, Ed Maier, Ray Price, John Cozad, the honored guests and the members of the club, including Chapman, members of the club, and Mr. and Mrs. William Neilson, and Mr. and Mrs. Buster Sawdye, guests.

Tradition was revived last night when the worthy matron and worthy patron of Hermosa O. E. S. chapter entertained their officers and trailers at their annual dinner party in the Masonic temple.

Places were laid for 42 at one long table centered with five large crystal bowls on mirrors, the bowls filled with salmon pink and yellow Transvaal daisies. Lighted tapers in pastel shades were placed in the flower bowls, forming soft illumination for the table, and sprays of greenery down the center between the bouquets also added to the charm of the scene.

Silver and pink place cards bore the names of the following:

Miss Henrietta Bohling, worthy matron, and Wilford G. Lewis, worthy patron, the hosts; the Messrs. and Mesdames Henry Walters, Neal Beisel, W. D. Finn, J. F. Jacoby, Roy Seiver, Will McConnell, Cyrus Merker, Will Lewis, David Meyer, Pliny Chapin, Fred Pope, Cedric Jones, Harold Wahlberg, William DeWolf, William Goodrich, Harley Neill, Benjamin Livesay, Raymond Taylor, H. O. Crowe, R. C. Drake, and John Swanke; Dr. and Mrs. Casius Paul, Miss Mamie Y. Havens, Mrs. Etta D. Sweet, Mrs. Nell Winslow and Mrs. Edith Snow.

Miss Chapin, in behalf of the officer group presented the worthy patron with a fireplace set for his new home.

Hollywood was the evening's diversion, prizes in this going to the trailers, with Mrs. Chapin and Mr. Jones, high.

Mary Stoddard Seven Girl Scribes' Attitude Denounced By Older Women Advising Mrs. C. E.

By MARY STODDARD

Like an avalanche comes the rebuke of older readers to descend upon the heads of the "Seven Girl Scribes" who wrote in this column last Saturday. They condemned the young mother who wrote that her two baby girls were born in the County hospital, but that they girls claim that these two children when they arrive at school will be a target for their scholastic because they were born into the world on the wings of charity.

Yes, youth is cruel, but I believe not intentionally so. It is often ruthless, but for the most part I believe it is well meaning although brutally frank.

Dear Miss Stoddard: After reading "Seven Girl Scribes" letter, I can't keep still any longer. Oh! The cruelty of youth.

I wonder if they stopped to think of the hurt the mother who had her babies in the county hospital? I wonder if they know that there are millions of families on relief who would be glad of the chance to work and pay all their bills?

My husband was once a well-known business man in an Eastern state. We owned our nice home and owed no one, and then we lost everything. With a few hundred dollars, we came west and bought a farm. I couldn't sell what we raised, our chickens ate more feed than the eggs could pay for, and we kept getting poorer and poorer.

I kept selling my household goods until we had barely enough to get along with.

Let me tell you, girls, any time you think of people who are anything for nothing you should try it. My husband worked five days a week, eight hours a day, for a $20 food voucher each month, and I walked over two miles every night and morning to the sewing room to earn a little bedding and clothes.

Sometimes I had to take my little 4-year-old daughter with me, and sometimes the snow was knee deep. Then when I found I was to become a mother again I was frantic because I knew we couldn't afford to have the baby. And the baby never arrived.

But had this little one been born it would have opened its eyes in a county hospital through no fault of ours or its own.

Now I ask you, just because there is an economic depression that none of us can help, and just because we are forced into a position where we must either accept relief or starve, must we, any of us mothers or those who aren't mothers, be denied the comfort and the divine position of parenthood—the oldest help to a most important law of life?

I think there is something wrong with any couple who are married and don't want children. And wanting them, they should be able to have them, even though the mother is the oldest help to a most important law of life?

Notes from State Club Federation

"Drop Toy Guns for Bench Tools" will be the slogan of the California Federation of Women's clubs' American home department this year, when, led by the chairman, Mrs. David Fraser of San Diego, it will crusade against destructive toys and at the same time inaugurate an educational plan which will promote the manufacture and sale of constructive ones.

"Do not present toys to your children—prescribe toys for your children's mental and physical growth," is Mrs. Fraser's admonition to parents. Like the spinach and apple sauce of the nursery, toys are regarded as essentials of development, responsible for providing mental, physical and social calories, vitamins and exercise.

"The federation, parents, governmental agencies, educators and those engaged in children's work must form the nucleus of a national movement to discourage the manufacture and sale of toy guns and pistols for use by the children of America."

One might feel a bit wilted physically when the thermometer registers anywhere from 102 to 112 in the shade, but when one has just completed a most delightful trip that carried you through the entire middle west and east, to say nothing of a side motor trip to Quebec and Montreal, one can't help but be "perky in spirit."

This is the opinion of Mrs. George W. Funnell, office secretary, as she returns to her duties at federation headquarters in Hanford, picks up the loose ends and prepares for another busy club year.

To help the general listening public become more musical conscious and greater music lovers is the aim of the music department of the California federation.

Mrs. E. W. Stephens of Burlington, chairman, believes this will not be difficult. She lauds the activity of fine music in both the radio and motion picture industries; the orchestral scores accompanying the pictures and particularly the excerpts from the operas rendered by the finest of operatic stars, and is of the opinion that the opportunity is at hand for clubs to encourage and keep alive this interest in good music.

Accordingly she suggests a course of study which emphasizes the background of opera, the composers, and singers so that the listening public may have some foundation and understanding to help appreciate that which it is able to enjoy daily.

Mrs. Stephens is prepared to speak to clubwomen throughout the state on this program, some of her topics being, "Mothers and Music," "Histories of Operas," and "Chords and Dischords."

LUTHERAN GUILD

Members of the Ladies' Aid society of St. Peter Lutheran church will hold their regular meeting tomorrow at the church.

CLUB MEETING

Mrs. Elizabeth Jernigan will entertain members of the Martha Washington club tomorrow at her home, 701 North Bristol street.

Foot Care Is Beauty Treatment

By JACQUELINE HUNT

Foot ailments are at the root of many a facial wrinkle, say the orthopedic specialists, and certainly no one will deny that haggard, aging lines on the face are often caused by burning, tortured feet. So, if you want a calm, youthful, unfurrowed brow and a graceful carriage, look to your feet!

A new brush has been designed especially for massaging and cleansing the feet. The firm, resilient bristles soften and eventually help remove painful hardened callouses and they exercise and relax the muscles of the feet.

The treatment making use of the convenient new brush:

After your bath and while you are still in the tub, work up a good lather on the foot brush by rubbing the cake of soap directly on the brush. Using a rotary massage movement start brushing from the toes to the ankle on one side, then repeat on the other side of the foot. Give particular attention to the arches, ankles and heels of the foot. Stop at each of these points and do a bit of extra scrubbing.

Next take each toe and brush it, using a rotary motion. This is an important measure in your foot grooming. The nails are often dark and stained from poor circulation and there is usually a lot of excess cuticle around the nail. Brushing removes the stains from under and atop the nail, removes most of the dead cuticle and makes the skin around the toenails firmer. This massage also gives the toenails a better shape, makes them smoother and prepares them for the finishing touches of the pedicure.

Scrub Hard

The skin on the soles of the feet is very tough so do not be afraid to use too much soap or scrubbing with the brush to loosen the accumulated callouses. Of course, you cannot scrub them away with a single treatment, but keep it up every night for a week and see what pretty feet you have suddenly acquired.

After the scrubbing, rinse the feet first in warm and then very cold water. This tones the skin and muscles after the warm bath. Dry thoroughly and massage with cold cream or lanoline. This is soothing to the feet and aids in softening the hardened areas like corns and callouses.

Wipe away the excess cream with tissues, and as a final step rub the feet with a pad of cotton soaked in bathing alcohol or astringent. This removes every particle of cream and leaves the feet cool, dry and refreshed.

Learn to Treat Your Dog's Ailments

Distemper is your dog's worst enemy. Learn to recognize the symptoms early and give him the advantage of prompt treatment. If your pet is listless, feverish, not interested in food, be wary! Place him in warm quarters immediately. Give him light foods only—milk, beef broth, white of egg diluted with a tablespoon of warm water. By careful nursing you may be able to arrest this dread disease in its first stage, which is like a severe cold affecting eyes, nose and throat.

However, watch sharply for the more dangerous affection of lungs, stomach, intestines or nerves.

Our 32-page booklet describes symptoms, gives specific treatment for the different forms of distemper and other common dog ailments. Be on the safe side. Have this valuable guide on hand. It deals with feeding, training and housebreaking, too.

Send 10 cents for your copy of HOW TO CHOOSE AND CARE FOR YOUR DOG to Santa Ana Journal Home Service. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and the name of booklet.

FLOWERS

For the Living

TODAY, a bouquet to: FLOYD MITCHELL and CHARLES WHITE of the Santa Ana postoffice force, who represented this city and their fellow employees at the three-day convention in Bakersfield ending yesterday, attended by 600 California mail carriers and their wives.

By GLENN L. THORNE

Yesterday was Labor day. And how it was labor day at our house! We labored all day canning tomatoes. I scalded the berries and peeled 'em, and the other half of our household scalded her wrist, and expects it to peel later.

Don't want to be like the old fellow back in New York who made the yearly announcement each October that "he was not prepared for winter, although winter was prepared for him."

If it wasn't for the cute little vitaminies tasting so good that I can't resist yielding to the temptation to eat 'em, I'd store 'em all away for a year, and next Labor day we'd have 'em all canned. But even this morning I opened a can to see if they are keeping and, after tasting the fruit of our labor, I'm glad we stayed home for that instead of going to the beach. Blistering one's hands on a pan of boiling tomatoes is no worse than blistering one's back on the beach under a boiling sun, and money spent on tomatoes now will taste better this winter than that spent on sunbath lotion now.

Karpens Operate Huge Furniture Factory on Coast

Above is pictured the Huntington Park factory of S. Karpen and Brothers, nationally recognized as leaders in the manufacture of living room furniture. The factory, one of the largest furniture-making plants in the West, employs 200 skilled furniture craftsmen. Mike Karpen, president and general manager, said the firm built the Pacific coast factory a number of years ago in anticipation of future development of this territory, and the rapid increase in home building and indications of future home building are far in excess of their anticipations. Karpen considers Orange county to have some of the finest homes on the coast.

Program for Summer Is Sumarized

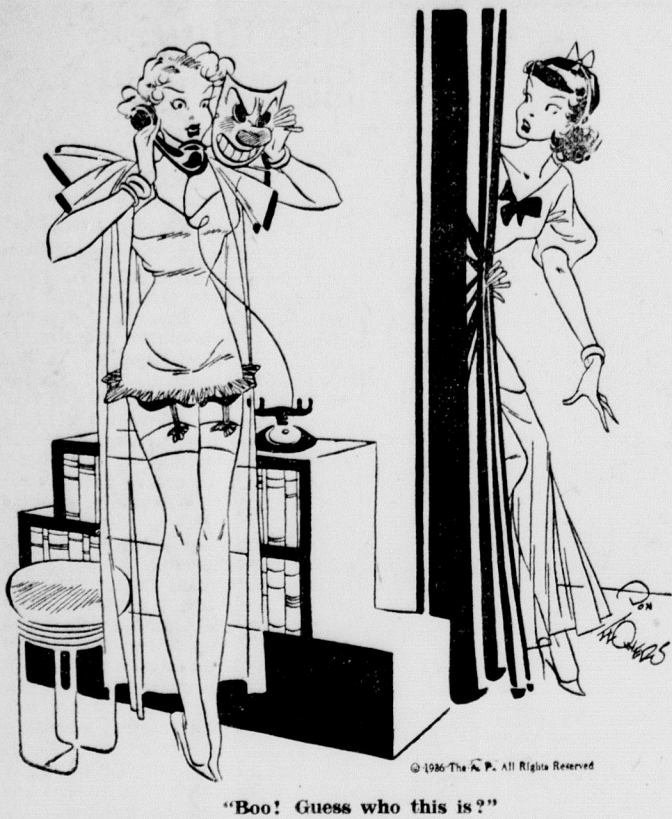

By CLAUD N. CHRISMAN, M. D.

There has been no more general topic of conversation throughout this scorching summer than that of keeping cool. Collecting the ideas used by different people for lowering one's temperature is amounting to a favorite sport.

Keeping cool in hot weather is not merely a question of immediate comfort but often of health itself. No official health report will ever be able to tabulate the number of deaths occurring in torrid weather that could, if the truth were known, be traced to too sudden change from excessive heat to cold.

The fact that different people suffer so differently in the same heat means that much of the trouble lies with ourselves. Many people lose their appetites or crave only cold things. Now, the World's Most Fortunate People

AN AMERICAN reporter interviewed a typical family in a dictator ridden European country, from which liberty had been banished.

Hands gnarled from bitter toil, cheeks sallow from privation, clad in tatters—this family looked at our reporter with genuine pity.

"You an American? How sad!" they said. "We know that hundreds of your people are being shot monthly by capitalist controlled police. We know that thousands of your workers are dying from hunger. We know that no one in your country has the comfort or security that we have. We know, that in all the world, we are the most fortunate of people. We know all these things because we read them in our newspapers, which speak the truth because our government publishes them!"

Fantastic?—Not at all! That family can be found today in several countries, where leaders—lustful for power, have learned the force that lies in ability to control or fabricate what passes as news.

That is one reason why The Journal gives its readers clear, impartial, accurate news on both sides of every vital question. That is why The Journal tries to keep its editorial page tolerant and logical.

California G. O. P. factions are fighting for party control, just like the Democrats. Well, that's one fight the Republicans are bound to win this year.

Highways North and South

WITH a great highway from the Texas border to Mexico City complete and another one planned down the west coast into the heart of the republic south of us, it comes as stirring news that the Canadian government may soon start work on a road from Vancouver to the Alaskan border.

Like the roads into Mexico, the Alaska highway presents great engineering problems—but there is no doubt that sooner or later it will be built.

When that day does come, it will link our great American system of roads to the north and south extremes of the continent. The motorist will be able to drive from the Arctic regions into the tropics.

The United States, with its skill and experience in road-building, will be glad to help our neighbor nations in this great project to benefit the entire continent.

Jesse Owens has selected an agent to act for him. That's what we all will be doing Nov. 3 and Sept. 24 is the last day to register.

Soaking the Poor

ARE YOU a taxpayer? Maybe you think not if you don't own real estate—but take a look at the hidden taxes—levies which you pay off without knowing it.

Suppose you buy two packages of cigarettes for 24 cents. The dealer adds a cent for state sales tax. The federal government collects 12 cents in excise tax. The retailer, wholesaler, manufacturer, tobacco lab jobber, farmer, cigarette paper manufacturer, tin foil and cellophane men, and freight companies all pass along their share of the taxes which went into production and distribution of those two packages. You pay at least 14, possibly 15 cents in assorted taxes on the cigarettes.

Hidden taxes soak the poor. The tax collector likes hidden taxes because the average man does not realize that he is being plucked.

We had the idea that college football was a gentleman's game until some of the ex-stars turned to wrestling.

Stamps and Progress

THE operators of the great zeppelin Hindenburg announce that, in this pioneering experiment in aviation, expenses on the trips back and forth across the Atlantic have only been met through the aid of stamp collectors of the world, who have sent thousands of letters over this new postal service.

A few years ago stamps were rather ordinary bits of paper, usually carrying the likeness of some ruling monarch. In the past few years they have blossomed out as works of art, carrying many colored pictures of scenes of natural beauty or historical importance.

If you haven't a hobby, just take a few moments to study the stamps on your most recent correspondence. The scenes you see may make you a stamp collector—and there is no hobby which can bring more pleasure.

A drowning politician will grab at a straw vote.

Fire Hazard Still Here

THAT roaring inferno in Topanga canyon north of Los Angeles is a fierce reminder that the forest fire season is still here. Very often cooler weather and autumnal fogs give the impression that winter has arrived and that the fire hazard is past.

The dry hills of California are always tinder beds until two or three soaking rains have wet them down. They burst into flames at the touch of a burning cigarette or at a spark from some unextinguished campfire.

Be careful when you drive or hike in the hills. Carelessness with fire may wipe out a forest that it took Nature centuries to grow. And you and others may go up in smoke along with it.

So many men's ships come in empty.

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

Johnny Farrar is a refutation of the old saw: "You cannot make a business man out of a poet." Only a few years ago he was strumming his lyre, a delicately pale, blue-eyed dreamer. His had come down from the green hills of Vermont to the big city.

Today, as one of the Keadals of a publishing house, he is a ruddy and robust figure in one of the most highly competitive fields of merchandising. If he turns out a sonnet these days it is solely for his own amusement. His time is spent at a desk surrounded by secretaries and push buttons.

His partner is Stanley Rinehart, son of the author, Mary Roberts Rinehart. The story goes that the capitalist, Messrs. Rinehart, a bibliophile on the side, backed the young men in their quixotic adventuring. The old-timers in the business looked upon it as a costly whim.

From the jump of the gun they succeeded. But the big splash was when they decided to publish the ponderous "Anthony Adverse," which had been knocking around with no takers for some time. It proved the book sensation of the decade and made a fortune.

She is a bobbing old lady, with jet bonnet and fichu, who often steps out of a plushy cocktail bar near the Waldorf just as I go astroll with the dog. We bow as the outgrowth of such frequent contacts. This evening she stopped, tapped my arm coyly and said: "You know what? I feel like I'm going to whoop!"

Much of the successful exploitation of the Ziegfeld film was due to Bernard Sobel who literally followed the showman beyond the grave with his faithful. Sobel was a former professor of English at Purdue and is likely the most erudite of the public relations gnomes. Ziegfeld engaged him as a press agent during the successful years for the Follies and other productions. City editors may be turned in the most precise English of all the P. A.'s.

There are usually disputes as to the origin of Ziegfeld's celebrated tag line which read, "Glorifying the American Girl." It was credited to many, including the producer himself. As a matter of fact, Ziegfeld told me that Walter Kingsley, when a press agent for vaudeville, suggested the line for a huge electric sign on Broadway for the Follies. It was used thereafter in all Ziegfeld's productions—a simple, obvious declaration yet advertising men say one of the most compelling ever hatched.

New York hotels have almost lifted the ban on cooking in rooms. Until a few years ago, it was done surreptitiously with eviction often a penalty. The old Waldorf had a special sniffer to roam the corridors. But the boom time for deluxe hotels installed kitchenettes and refrigeration in ever small suites and single rooms. And the side street hotels could not compete with the rooming houses permitting cooking. Anyway, most hotels realize their dining rooms are passe. Those who do not cook in rooms patronize the cluster of cafeterias nestled in all big inns. The Ansonia, I believe, was the first big hotel to install kitchenettes.

And the hotel detective or house dick is now confined to the first floor to watch for lobby sharpers, sneak thieves and "we boys." Their officiousness in key hole snooping in the past involved Ritz in damage suits. Caesar Ritz rightly conducted his hotels on the assumption everyone who signed the register was respectable. If they proved otherwise, he got rid of them by hiking the tariff. As a result, he rarely had a suit or scandal.

The most generously squirreled lady in the current scene is the darkly exotic and now matured Lily Holman. When she visits the night clubs she is often accompanied by a half dozen to a dozen male escorts. No other ladies, as a rule. It is all somewhat of a musical comedy scene. Miss Holman, incidentally, took over the Billy Leeds expansive estate in the knobby Oyster Bay section this summer and her weekend parties notched high in the gaudy pools.

I was recalling old Uncle Gabe Walsh, the hostler at McCormack's livery stable. He always ate his dessert first at dinner. He explained if there was to be anything left on his plate he would rather it would be cabbage and corn pone.

Double-decker trains are already in service between Hamburg and Lubeck, Germany. The double decker idea is not new, for buses have been using it for some time. However, in railroads it is something new, and it is safe to predict that changes will be made in American railways to compare to this European system. More passengers can be carried on one unit, with one chassis and one set of wheels doing the work.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON. — Representative Bill Lemke has been advised by North Dakota friends that if he wants to retain his seat in the house he had better out short his third party presidential electioneering and devote himself to patching up his political fences at home.

Otherwise, they are warning him, he is apt to be the most defeated man in the country—losing out both nationally and in his district.

Lemke is running for a third term in congress as a Republican in the nonpartisan league, which is potent in North Dakota. The endorsement was before he was taken into camp by Father Coughlin and became the priest's presidential white hope.

This dual role has not gone down well with the Nonpartisan league rank and file. They are accusing Lemke of "betraying" and "running out" on the organization, and have grown increasingly resentful as he dashes about the country paying no attention to the North Dakota situation.

A significant indication of how the boys at home feel about the matter is the action of Senator Gerald Nye in refusing to make a declaration for Lemke while campaigning for Representative Usher L. Burdick, another fellow Nonpartisan leaguer.

North Dakota has never had a Democratic congressman, but from the way things are shaping up in the state there is a strong possibility that this record will be broken and Lemke's place will be filled by one next session.

"V. I." Recent visitors to the office of Secretary Harold Ickes have noticed a striking silk flag, bearing the eagle and seal of the U. S., flanked by the mysterious letters "V. I."

Nobody could figure out just what the letters stood for. One suggestion was that they were the Roman numerals, six, to designate the interior department's numerical cabinet status. The department was the sixth to be established.

Finally, at a press conference, Ickes was asked to explain the mystery. "There is no mystery about those letters," he said. "V. I., Virgin Islands. That's the new Virgin Islands' flag the navy has made for us."

Administration of the Virgin Islands is lodged in division of territories and island possessions which is a unit of the interior department.

HOT SPOT

Confidential dispatches received by state department from Spain tell a sad tale of trials and tribulations that the foreign diplomats are undergoing in the strife-torn country.

When the revolt began, the foreign diplomats were summering at San Sebastian on the shores of the Bay of Biscay. U. S. Ambassador Claude G. Bowers had a villa at the neighboring town of Fuenterabia.

Reports of violence in Madrid convinced them that the capital was a good place to keep away from. So the diplomats remained at safe distance and let subordinates run their embassies. Then things began to get hot.

PEN FOR DRUNK DRIVERS

To the Editor: Your snappy editorial on drunk drivers is particularly apropos at this time. Instead of a decrease there is a steady increase in this inexcusable offense. There is a reason for this increase; it is the unwarranted leniency on the part of some of the courts in Orange county.

Section 501 of the California Vehicle code provides for a penalty of not less than one year nor more than five years in the state penitentiary for persons guilty of injuring anybody while driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor. In practically every case where a man is convicted of this offense he asks the court for probation. He wants to be set free. Let all judges pronounce a state prison sentence on these potential killers and see how quickly the so-called "accidents" become reduced in number.

Fines and jail sentences won't do any good. They have been tried for a long time. Let's try a few San Quentin jolts and see what the result will be. Not only is a state prison term legal and prescribed by the legislature, but it is fully warranted. One can occasionally excuse stealing, passing rubber checks, assaults and other crimes. There is, however, absolutely no excuse whatever for deliberately and voluntarily getting drunk and then driving a car into somebody and injuring or killing them.

Let The Journal stress the necessity for prison terms for all drunk drivers, beginning immediately. Let every judge cooperate and do his duty.

Howdy, folks! Yesterday was Labor day. That double line of automobile traffic you saw on the main highways was country folks driving into the city for a good time, and city people driving into the country for the same reason.

We sometimes suspect that country people go to the city on holidays to escape city friends who otherwise would drive out to visit them.

One Man's Opinion

By Duncan Ellsworth Clark

EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

Lure of the Simple Life

A New York judge dropped from sight six years ago. No trace of him anywhere until the other day someone said that someone else had seen, or thought he had seen, an old "desert rat" in the back country of Los Angeles, who bore a fancied resemblance to the missing jurist. And so police are in a rather about it, and searching parties scout through the sagebrush and desert wastes looking for a bewhiskered old party, driving pack burros. But the elusive stranger hides away and the searchers give up the game of hide-and-seek.

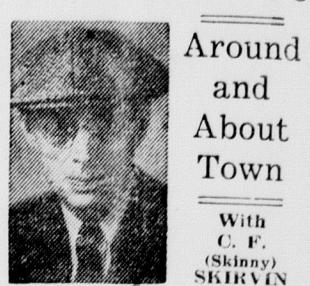

What the hunters would have done with the judge if they had found him nobody seems to know. No guilt attaches to the exile. His family has shown no particular concern about him. And certainly nobody can blame a judge for preferring the wide-open spaces of the wind-blown desert to the railings and ravings of courtroom procedure. The Farley commemorative stamp mania could do worse, and has done worse, than issue a special stamp to this hermit who sloughed the worries of legal burdens and hastened to make peace with his own soul through communion with the great out-of-doors.

The simple fact is that this judge has done what countless thousands of other harassed men would like to do, but lack the courage. What man has not longed for a Robinson Crusoe existence? That wrinkled, graying hermit, with nose to the grindstone and with fears in his soul, would not throw the whole mess to the winds and build a shack in the desert wilds, if he could but gather up his shattered nerves and cut the ties that bind him to a mad-house world?

One good thing about civilization is its tendency to get superheated. The burdens get intolerably heavy and the benefits fall away to dust and ashes. Sanity and decency disappear in a struggle too fierce to sustain. Human nerves and blood and sinews snap under the strain and the sea of life is filled with floating wreckage. Nobler sentiments of love and charity are consumed in trying to salvage the wreckage carried by the baser passions of greed and hate. And so civilization gnaws its own heart away until the crumbling structure dissolves and new foundations must be laid.

Some day, perhaps, we shall learn that all our glamor and pride are nothing if human values are lost. Our boasted control of natural forces is hollow mockery unless we build up a spirit of decency and good-will among men. In grasping for place and power we are losing the very fundamentals upon which national greatness must rest.

Around and About Town

By comparison the street lamp at the corner of Sixth and Main looms up to a disadvantage with its neighbor across the street. Whether it is an oversight, or to show the before and after effect, I do not know, but I'll find out when I get into a "Sweet Adeline" fellowship with Harry V. Hanson, who got the contract to furnish the paint to give to the man who paints the lamp standards. It may take a few days to get all the information, but it can be done under proper persuasion. In the meantime I am having a hard time trying to convince John Galanis that the lamp post has been painted. Of course I know it hasn't been painted like the other posts in the block, but I am just trying to find out if John is color blind.

And then there was the time when Ralph Barker started on an automobile vacation trip and was urged by Father-in-Law Grover to be sure and send a card. So Ralph mails one from Anaheim and tells his f.i.l. that "everything is lovely, weather fine, wish you were here." And Anaheim eight miles away.

In case you did not get enough rest Labor day maybe you can catch up on that tired feeling tomorrow. Admission day when most of the business places will hang out the old "legal holiday" sign. California can find more reasons for taking "time out" than any other state in the union. It's a great state with a great historical background. What it may lack in epochs it makes up in scenery. It's a great state to find an excuse to go places. I rather like the idea. My trouble is I am unable to go all the places I'd like to.

Lest you forget this department again calls your attention to registration. September 24 will be the last day. Get your name on the registration rolls and you can vote Nov. 3. Otherwise you will be denied that privilege. Registrars are at accessible points, or you may go to the courthouse.

"Chappy" Chapman tried to persuade me to go to the air races. When I told him they were all dead or crippled, he didn't think so, and in event that he was right he said he still had a chance to see someone get bumped off. That's a hard way to look at aviation, but it still holds good that there is no progress without sacrifice, and accidents often prove defects which are corrected later.

If you want to get a thrill go down Orange avenue and stop at the Harry Fink home, 409. At the curb is one of those flaming eucalyptus trees. It looks like a blaze. I've wondered why the fire department hasn't made a trip there. Instead of some species of trees now lining the curbs, some of which it is almost impossible to keep alive or dead, or crippled, he didn't think so, and in event that he was right he said he still had a chance to see someone get bumped off. That's a hard way to look at aviation, but it still holds good that there is no progress without sacrifice, and accidents often prove defects which are corrected later.

Bob Harness has a sign on the main entrance door at the Western Auto Supply Co. to notify him at 1006 Haladay street in case of fire or burglary. Bet they can't do it, as Bob doesn't live there any more. Maybe he doesn't know it but I'm going to tell him the next time I see him that he now lives at 934 Kilson drive. I don't expect to rub the nose, and if I did I would not notify the police. The police ought to have the information in case someone who is not as timid as I am decides to visit the place. And then anyway it will only take a few minutes to change the sign.

For the purpose of adding to the charity fund, B. P. O. E. No. 794, has a pretentious undertaking on its hands. The benevolence of the Elks is a service unparalleled in its bestowal, but the instrument used to acquire the funds is a matter of public interest because the public is asked to contribute, and the organization reveals the nature of the entertainment. This year something entirely different and especially deserving has been secured by the local lodge. On September 16 and 17 the great European Passion Play is to be presented in English at the Municipal bowl, the entertainment being so extravagant in its space requirements that accommodations are more than eight tons of scenery to put on this play. The portrayal of the last seven days of Christ upon the earth has attracted international attention at Oberammergau. The Elks are bringing the Passion Play to Santa Ana at a modest admission price. What unless we build up a spirit of decency and good-will among men. In grasping for place and power we are losing the very fundamentals upon which national greatness must rest.
